

The San Francisco Contemporary Music Players

Now in our 42nd season, the San Francisco Contemporary Music Players gives audience members and friends opportunities to discover musical repertoire that is new to them – and to use these experiences as ways to better understand, interact with, and enjoy their lives and our world.

The most long-standing continuously-performing new music ensemble outside the East Coast, we perform innovative and exceptional music along with recording, commissioning, and educational outreach activities. We are proud to share what we consider to be among the best new music being written today, from solos to works for chamber orchestra.

Throughout our history, we have performed over 1,200 new works, over 149 premieres, and have commissioned more than 79 new pieces from such composers as John Adams, Chaya Czernowin, George Lewis, Shulamit Ran, Carlos Sanchez-Gutierrez, Olly Wilson, Julia Wolfe, and Zhou Long.

Our 22 core members are among the Bay Area's leading musicians, active soloists and chamber musicians, many of whom perform and record with their own chamber ensembles and are involved in other musical pursuits throughout the region. Not only are we committed to presenting music of the highest artistic caliber, we are very proud to support musicians' right livelihood by remaining a union ensemble.

We thank you for joining us today, and hope to see you at future concerts and events. Please contact us at info@sfcmp.org if we can assist with further information about our season or activities.
